

LANCE

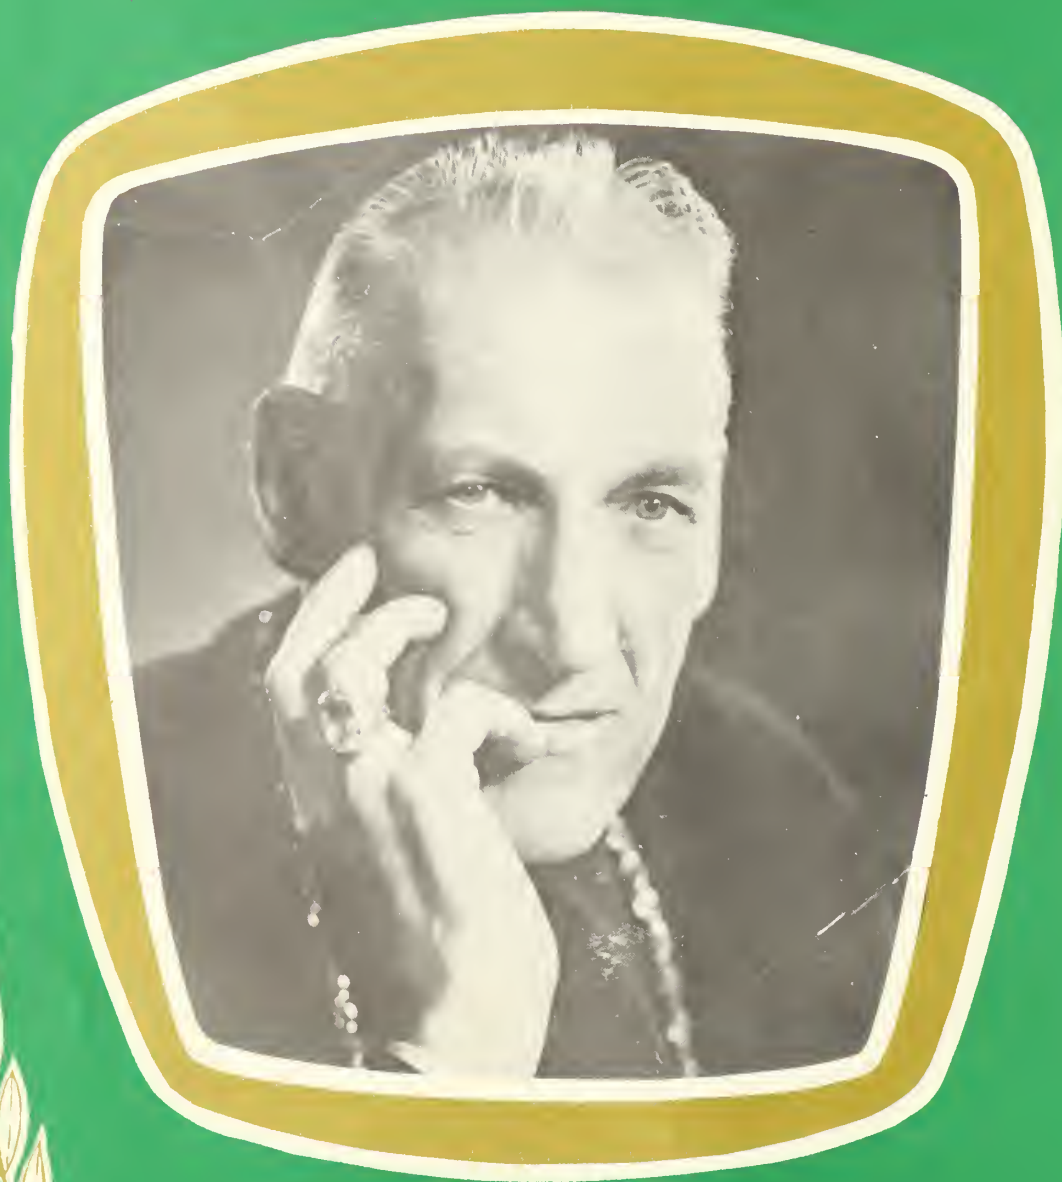

Leah's Penick Book School
Journalism Library

Alma Mater

What is school?—come and see:
Open books lying on desks seeking a reader,
Chalk-filled black boards weary from work,
Tottering freshmen crushed with fear,
Buzzers beckoning "You're late!"
Trampled stairs resting between classes,
Carol's smile walking over to meet Jack's;
The clock's hands shaking and bells saying "Hello,"
Math crying "Hurray" on Jim's test paper,
Pencils running feverish races on the lines of papers,
Work always dependable—forever on duty.
Perserverance marshalling with Judy;
Happiness walking hand in hand;
Joy-rewarding diligence for a job completed.
Friendship and pleasure sifting through memories,
And lights saying "Good night,"
And doors whispering "See you again,"
As shadows journey
Toward home.

Dedication

As graduation day nears, we pause to recapture fleeting memories. How excited and relieved we were when that all-important letter of acceptance arrived! Fenwick was ours!

Each phase of high school life has added to our education: the laboratories where many of us have plowed through Chemistry, Physics or Biology; the gymnasium where we met victory and defeat; the auditorium where we have witnessed a parade of speakers, panelists, and amateur actors; the chapel where we have sought solutions to our problems; the football field which we as seniors now see as a realization of our dreams; the faculty who have directed our steps toward Knowledge.

Now, as we halt on the borderline between yesterday and tomorrow, our eyes turn toward the future. Our lives will always reflect our Bishop Fenwick High School training.

To express our gratitude, the Class of 1963 dedicates this first edition of "The Lance" to you.

Reflections

*As we apply the final polish upon that mystic beam of knowledge,
And prepare for the life that shall fill our future,
We should reflect on the years that have passed.*

REMEMBER . . .

How we dreaded that first day of school . . . our dismay when we couldn't find the swimming pool or the elevator . . . Mrs. Butler . . . Bickie, the only "man" ever to invade the convent . . . first crushes . . . Eddie and Arthur's spaghetti free-for-all . . . the first dance - nobody did . . . Fenwick's puddle-sized skating rink . . . Father Bukay's history classes . . . stamp race competition . . . our initial step into basketball . . . Room 107 . . . the Sodality ski trip, when Lynda and Leo made a big "smash" . . . our rough and "Reddy" retreat, . . . when some of the boys came to school in bermudas and drew a little more than wolf-whistles . . . Sister Rita Marie and her imaginary medals . . . weeding the lawn . . . the Big Three race for the School Spirit Cup . . . Honor Night . . .

A little rest, then back again,

We "welcomed" the freshmen . . . Michael, the Math-Angel, versus Cornelia, the Science Saint . . . daily treks to the lost and found box . . . Ronnie invaded T-V land . . . 201 cleaned out the trophy case . . . Everyone sweated over the first Science Fair . . . Rene turned bookie . . . Marty brought back "Big Juli" . . . We laughed over "Jeanie" . . .

Upperclassmen, at last . . .

Kennedy, Khrushchev, and Kulevich . . . Cardinal Cushing dedicated the Sacred Heart Altar . . . Fenwick's football team emulsified Peabody . . . Chemistry Lab explosion "dampened" spirits . . . the password was predestination . . . cold weather brought warm hearts to the Christmas Cotillion . . . packed gym - no Stang . . . the flu bugged Fenwick . . . Water pistol Paladins caused April Showers . . . we pulled balloons out of thin air . . . no one was without a lollipop . . . Fenwick and the Fire Department became fast friends . . . the football field materialized . . . Teddy reigned as island queen of "Blue Hawaii" . . . Miss Conway entered Maryknoll . . .

Climax! . . .

Red-faced nuns returned from up the river . . . Freshman Initiation . . . class elections . . . Jimmy was voted "Mr. President" . . . we drooled over our class rings . . . Mr. G's track team ran in the rain . . . a white-gloved figure let off steam with a toy whistle . . . Mike tackled the referee at the Westford game . . . the juniors treated us to a Thanksgiving party . . . gridiron fans sloshed to Watertown . . . tests, tests, tests . . . "Mr. McNeilly, will you please come to the office?" . . . Sister Gertrude and "trite" expressions . . . the "friendly" bluecoat with an armload of tickets . . . the twist craze . . . getting away from it all at the senior retreat . . . Class Week (sigh) . . . Senior Prom—a night to remember . . . Commencement—the struggle is over!
